Course Description, Prerequisites, Corequisites:

This course will concentrate on narrative/dramatic elements of cinematic storytelling for the writer. Writers will practice their pitching, writing, and rewriting skills in collaboration with the actors and directors. Writers will create original concepts and be teamed up with the directors and actors to produce their short films and film scenarios. FLMA 1180, 1181, and 1182 are taught concurrently, and students work collaboratively to complete the required course assignments.

Prerequisites and Corequisites unavailable, please consult Department for details

Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- describe and execute the procedures for pre-production, production and post-production of a short film
- use and/or store and handle the equipment (depending on what stream the student is in) used in the shooting of a short film (HD format camera, sound and lighting kits)
- critique the work of others to create and encourage a viable and collaborative working atmosphere conducive to successful filmmaking
- perform all duties required to produce a short film with confidence in their individual streams' (writer, director, actor) required skill sets
- perform all protocols and procedures required at Langara Film Arts and on a professional film set
