Course Description, Prerequisites, Corequisites:

This course builds on the skills developed in JOUR 1142: Basics of Copy Editing. Students learn how to undertake more challenging structural changes to stories, refining those stories to improve their flow. Students also learn how to assess stories for gaps and omissions in information, fairness, good taste, libel, editorializing, and other issues.

Registration in this course is restricted to students admitted to the Journalism program.

Prerequisite(s): JOUR 1142.

Learning Outcomes:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Identify structural problems with news stories and short features
- Determine whether additional information needs to be researched to complete a story
- Modify submitted news stories and short features in order to correct problems of poor transitions, weak organization, and missing information
- Coach student reporters in how to modify stories to correct structural problems
- Evaluate whether a story has any legal issues or problems with taste, stereotyping, unacceptable language
